Certificate in Business Valuations

Understand how to apply the principles of business valuation in order to better service your clients' needs with the Certificate in Business Valuations

The importance of business valuation is growing. As reported by ACCA members, more professional accountants are expected to hold expert knowledge in business valuations for supporting increased mergers and acquisitions activity.

ACCA and CSOEC have collaborated through a strategic partnership to develop the Certificate in Business Valuations; a high-quality specialist qualification requested by qualified accountants, finance business professionals and employers globally.

Completing the Certificate will enable you to:

- Understand the different contexts of business valuation, and the considerations which need to be made before undertaking a valuation
- Select the appropriate method of business valuation for any given situation
- Practice how to successfully apply business valuation techniques in a practical context

For finance professionals across the board

The Certificate suits those who are new to business valuations, as well as those who currently work in the field. If you already hold a professional accountancy qualification, the Certificate in Business Valuations serves as a valuable top-up. And if you don't hold a professional accountancy qualification, but have an educational or vocational background in business valuations, the Certificate allows you to gain formal recognition for your knowledge and skills.

ACCA is the world's most forward thinking professional accountancy body, with over 110 years of experience, innovation and excellence. We have over 178,000 members and 455,000 students in 181 countries.

CSOEC, founded in 1945, is a national public institution, whose role is to ensure the representation, promotion, protection and development of the accounting profession, both in France and abroad.
